

Uncommon Sense : Qualities That Count
By JOHN BLAKE

IT IS little to name over a list of qualities that constitute success. A man may be honest and reasonably able and industrious, and still be more or less of a failure. Another man may lack these qualities, even honesty, and be considered, by the world at least, a successful man. There are, however, a number of qualities which help toward success, and with which the ordinary man, without genius or any special talent, is far more likely to be successful than if he did not possess them.

THE chief of these, we believe, is dependability. The employee who can be counted on to be where he is needed, and to use judgment when he is there, is usually the one who is scheduled earliest for promotion. The employee, however, brilliant, who is not always to be found when wanted, is seldom trusted with high responsibility.

Locality is another quality that counts. By loyalty we mean the disposition on the part of the employee to do the work for which he is paid as well as he can—to feel that he has made a bargain and that it is his business to live up to it.

Industry, of course, counts, and counts for much more than it would if it were mere common.

THE man who works steadily has a great advantage in the lastness of most of his associates. His work shows to excellent advantage against their lack of work. Honesty is, of course, an essential,

STRIKE OVER FUNERAL BILL
Miners to Resume Work, Company Having Adjusted Matter

Hazleton, Pa., Oct. 13.—The first strike at an anthracite mine in the Lehigh district since the men resumed work September 11 occurred at the Hazleton shaft colliery of the Lehigh Valley Coal Company. It occurred, the mine workers said, over a misunderstanding as to the payment of $150 funeral expenses by the company to the survivors of John Mahalik, who was killed.

Thomas Kennedy, district president of the miners' union, said the old cus-

The Real Test of Quality

WE COULD write volumes of advertising praising our ice cream to the skies, and run an advertisement every day. We could paint a sign, appealing to the eye and appetite, on every corner.

But, after all, every flavor of our ice cream must be consistently good—day after day—to please the public.

Sales of SUPPLEE ICE CREAM thus far in 1922 far exceed those of 1921 for the same period, despite an extremely cool and wet summer.

It is constant quality that builds an ever-growing patronage. It is recognition of that quality that has brought this enormous increase in business.

The Stars and Stripes In the Near East

More than one hundred years ago the followers of Mohammed in the Mediterranean were forced to lower their Crescent in defeat before the American flag; to-day the largest flag afloat in Smyrna is reported to be the same Stars and Stripes, while the finest destroyers in the United States Navy have crossed the Atlantic to join other American ships near the scene of the Turkish victories.

What the United States will do is a question which looms large on three continents. In Asia Minor there is joy that America will give food and shelter; in Europe there is hope that America will join the Conference which will finally settle the status of Thrace and the Straits; in the United States the correspondents say that the Government is impressed by the great surge of anti-Turkish feeling among its citizens.

A "hands-off" policy has been officially announced with a statement of the Administration's approval of the Allied desire to keep the Straits free and the little peoples protected. Does this go far enough to suit the American people?

The leading article in THE LITERARY DIGEST this week, October 14th, gives expression to public opinion of every shade in answer to that question, and shows what the Government might do, and perhaps what it will do. The article is illustrated with several half-tones and cartoons.
